

Abstract of the Disclosure

A mobile station includes a wireless communication unit and Web function unit. The wireless communication unit wirelessly communicates with a mobile communication system network. The Web function unit is 5 connected to a content in the mobile communication system network via the wireless communication unit and has a content server function in WWW (World Wide Web). A communication system is also disclosed.